2. In the case of film storage for Detachment A, [REDACTED] is proceeding to provide adequate storage as outlined in [REDACTED] 2032. [REDACTED] states that the area being provided at Detachment A will not only fulfill their requirement but in addition can handle some additional film which in an emergency could be transshipped to Detachment B. With the new film requirement established by Headquarters Operations, Detachment B's storage space should be adequate.

3. Although not specifically involved in this instant problem, Detachment C has 2700 cubic feet properly airconditioned storage space for film and [REDACTED] advises me that this is completely adequate for operational concept.
